WEEK 3

September 27th - October 3rd

- To the much rejoicing of the student body, Saturday ice cream sundaes returned to Burton Dining Hall on the 27th.
- The BSA hosted a virtual ice cream social on the 28th. Students received their ice cream from Sayles and then joined the group on Zoom.
- First-Years who missed a pre-health information session had a last chance to attend this week on the 29th. Pre-health advisor Pam Middleton gave great advice about how to start pursuing a career in healthcare.
- On the 29th Carleton's 2020-2021 Start-Up Fellowship Competition began. Teams of 2-3 students heard from past competitors and learned about the event to win $10,000 for their ventures at this informational meeting.
- Opportunities to volunteer in the Arb continued with a volunteer event on the 30th. Participants capped off their September by gathering prairie seeds for future planting.
- Sophomorphosis began this week on the 30th! This two-week long event for Sophomores is a collection of informative sessions held by many different departments on campus. This week students could learn about career planning, student fellowships, and their upcoming writing portfolios.
