

WEEKS 3&4

NEWS YOU CAN USE

A CARLETON NEWSLETTER

WEEK 3

April 12-April 18

- On Monday, April 12, the Gender and Sexuality Center held Degendering Romance, an event aimed at promoting queer relationships among non-cis Carls.
- On Thursday, April 15, Professor Asuka Sango and Professor Bill North led "How Humanities Majors Can Advance Your Career & Enhance Your Life," a Career Center event aimed at discovering the breadth of career and life pathways forged by former Carleton humanities majors.
- On Friday, April 16, biologist and author Scott Freeman '78 shared insights on environmental education and engagement at the third convocation of spring term. The title of his presentation was "Working for Salmon and Social Justice."
- On Saturday, April 17, Carleton alumni met up with other Carls in their vicinity to connect, reconnect, and build community over a cup of coffee at Nationwide Coffee with Carls.

WEEK 4

April 19-April 25

- On Monday, April 19, the Career Center sponsored a Conversation with Oncology Nurse, Andy King '94. Andy shared his insights into the vital role that nurses play in healthcare today.
- On Monday, April 19, Stan Honda, a New York-based photojournalist renowned for his images documenting the 9/11 attacks, shared images of his documentary works and included helpful shooting tips for photographers at all levels.
- On Thursday, April 22, the Career Center hosted Inclusion, Diversity, & Equity at Work, an event aimed at helping students discern and evaluate employers' commitments to IDE in the workplace across a variety of fields
- On Friday, April 23, Shira Nayman's convocation, "Dark Urgings of the Blood: Storytelling and the Transgenerational Transmission of Trauma," discussed the power of storytelling.,

Presented by the Student Ambassador Program