RULES FOR CANDIDATES WISHING TO UNDERTAKE A ONE YEAR MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIP

Marshall Scholarships finance young Americans of high ability to study for a degree in the United Kingdom in a system of higher education recognised for its excellence.

Founded by a 1953 Act of Parliament, Marshall Scholarships are mainly funded by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office and commemorate the humane ideals of the Marshall Plan conceived by General George C Marshall. They express the continuing gratitude of the British people to their American counterparts.

The one-year Marshall Scholarship is aimed at applicants who have strong reasons for wishing to study in the UK but are unable to commit to the two-year scholarship.

Applicants for the one-year award will be required to provide a statement for the following:

The one-year Marshall Scholarship is aimed at applicants who have strong reasons for wishing to study in the UK but are unable to commit to the two-year scholarship. Please read the objectives of the Marshall Scholarship outlined in the Rules and provide a statement that outlines why you are unable to apply for a two-year Scholarship (300 words maximum).

The objectives of the Marshall Scholarships are:

- To enable intellectually distinguished young Americans, their country's future leaders, to study in the UK.
- To help Scholars gain an understanding and appreciation of contemporary Britain.
- To contribute to the advancement of knowledge in science, technology, the humanities and social sciences and the creative arts at Britain's centres of academic excellence.
- To motivate Scholars to act as ambassadors from the USA to the UK and vice versa throughout their lives thus strengthening British American understanding.
- To promote the personal and academic fulfilment of each Scholar.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will look for candidates who have the potential to excel as scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. Assessment will be based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found on the website.

The conditions of award, application and selection procedures are set out in this document. Conditions governing Two Year Scholarships are set out in a separate set of Rules for the Two-Year Scholarship.

GENERAL

1. Up to fifty Marshall Scholarships will be awarded in 2024. They are tenable at any British university and for study in any discipline at graduate level, leading to the award of a British university degree (courses not funded are outlined below).

NB university degrees may be referred to as courses or programmes.

2. Candidates are invited to indicate first and second choice courses at the same or different universities. Expressions of interest in studying at universities other than Oxford, Cambridge and London institutions are particularly welcomed. Candidates are especially encouraged to consider the Marshall Partnership Universities. A course search facility is available here: <https://www.marshallscholarship.org/study-in-the-uk/course-search>

NB: The selection of Scholars is based on our published criteria:

<https://www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/eligibility>

This includes, under the academic criteria, a range of factors, including a candidate's choice of course and university.

Therefore, selected candidates will be expected to apply to their first-choice university and course listed on their Marshall application. Requests to change after selection will not be considered unless candidates are unsuccessful in the outcome of their first-choice application, or the course is no longer running.

3. Candidates do not need to have applied for or be accepted at a British university before they apply for a Marshall Scholarship. However, applicants should be aware that there are some courses with early deadlines at institutions (including but not limited to University of Oxford, University of Cambridge, and the Royal Academy of Music) that have early deadlines throughout October – early January which could precede an offer of the scholarship or correspondence from the Commission. Applicants are encouraged to remain informed of course deadlines and should prepare accordingly.

Once a Scholar has been selected and accepted the offer, they will receive a confirmation letter from the Commission in early to mid-December and will be expected to complete an application for their first choice UK university programme (if not already completed). The decision to accept a Scholar is with the University, and the Commission has no influence on the outcome of UK university applications. The Marshall Commission cannot, therefore, guarantee that a Marshall Scholar will be admitted to the university of their choice. The Marshall team will be available during this process, and we encourage Scholars to seek advice and guidance at the earliest opportunity (please note that the offices will be closed during the holiday period).

When a Scholar applies to a course at Oxford or Cambridge, the Commission will identify the College that the Scholar should list on their application as their preference. Partner Colleges listed in Section 9 will be prioritised.

4. Final selection of candidates is made by eight regional selection panels in the US.

AWARDS

5. The total value of a Marshall Scholarship varies according to the circumstances (place of residence, selected university, etc.) of each Scholar. Scholars will receive the following:
 - a personal allowance to cover residence and cost of living expenses at the current stipend rate of £1,236 per month for Scholars studying outside of London and £1,516 for those studying in London. The stipend rates are set by the UK government and are reviewed in October each year and the first quarterly payment is received upon arrival to the UK.;
 - payment of tuition fees;
 - fares to and from the United States;
 - Claimable allowances totalling approximately £3,500 include but are not limited to:
 - a grant for books;
 - a grant for approved travel in connection with studies;
 - payment of necessary daily expenses for travel between place of residence and place of study, provided the distance between the two is reasonable;
 - a grant for the cost of preparation of any thesis submitted for examination, if required;
 - shipping of property to and from the United States
6. Marshall Scholarships are not subject to UK Income Tax but may be considered taxable income by the US Internal Revenue Service.

ELIGIBILITY

7. To qualify for the 2024 One Year awards, candidates should:

- be citizens of the United States of America (at the time they apply for a scholarship);
- (by the time they take up their scholarship ie September 2024) hold their first undergraduate degree from an accredited four-year college or university in the United States;
- have obtained a grade point average of not less than 3.7 on their undergraduate degree at the time of application (the most up-to-date undergraduate GPA the candidate has received will be used; final transcripts will be requested at the interview stage).
- have graduated from their first undergraduate college or university after April 2021.
- not have studied for or hold a degree or degree- equivalent qualification from a UK University or GCSE/A level qualifications undertaken in the UK.

Applicants who plan to attend graduate school in the US following their year in the UK should demonstrate that they have already applied, or intend to apply in the next couple of months, for these degrees and would be able to defer entry for one year in order to take up the Marshall Scholarship.

Candidates are only allowed to apply for either the one-year or the two-year Marshall Scholarship. Any candidate found applying for both will automatically be disqualified.

COURSE SELECTION

8. The following courses are NOT funded on the one-year Marshall Scholarship:

- Degree courses with overseas tuition fees exceeding £40,000. (The ONLY exception is the MPP course at the University of Oxford for one Scholar. As part of our Brasenose-Blavatnik partnership, if multiple Scholars are selected to apply for the MPP at Oxford and successful in their MPP application, Brasenose-Blavatnik will determine the Scholar who will receive the partner award. Scholars not chosen for the partner award will be expected to apply to and attend their second-choice course/university.)
- Second BA/BSc (undergraduate) Degrees
- MBA (any university)
- MSc/MFE Financial Economics (any university)
- PG Diplomas/Certificates in any subject (any university)
- Degrees leading to professional qualifications in medicine, dentistry, veterinary science and law (these degrees typically take 5 years to complete)

- Distance Learning degrees, including courses with large VLE or online components
- Degrees that require extended periods away from the University or the UK, including joint degrees with universities not in the UK
- Supervised research not leading to a degree qualification
- 15 month courses (courses longer than 12 months)
- Courses that start in January
- Part-time degrees

NB: One-year candidates must only consider degrees that are at least 10 months in duration and would be expected to remain in the UK for the duration of the course. Where a commitment to return to the US earlier than this is anticipated, permission will need to be sought from the Commission. Please check the university websites carefully for the duration of the degree in months. There are no exceptions to this regulation.

Candidates should read course descriptions and structures thoroughly. Candidates who list any of the qualifications not funded by the Marshall Commission on their application will not be invited to an interview.

The following should also be noted:

- University of London: under the university's regulations it is not possible to complete a research MPhil degree in less than two years.

In addition, if a candidate puts Oxford, Cambridge or Imperial College, King's College London, LSE or UCL as their first-choice institution none of these universities can be listed as second choice institutions.

NB: Candidates for all of these Scholarships will compete in the main Marshall Scholarship competition and if no-one of sufficient quality is found these Scholarships will not be offered.

MAKING AN APPLICATION

10. Candidates may apply in one region only - either that in which they have their permanent home address or ordinary place of residence/employment, or that in which they are studying. Any candidate applying in more than one region will automatically be disqualified. Any candidate found to be falsifying their permanent address will automatically be disqualified.
11. Each candidate must submit his/her application on the online form provided.

Applications must be endorsed by the President, Provost, or Academic Dean of the applicant's undergraduate educational institution. The online application must be submitted and authorised by a designated member of staff at the applicant's undergraduate educational institution.

In exceptional circumstances candidates may be nominated by their Graduate School. However, special permission must be sought from the Marshall Commission. The internal deadline for candidates to submit to their institution will be displayed on the online application form. Applicants should speak to their institutions' designated member of staff for questions about the internal deadline.

No endorsing institution may submit more than 24 applications overall. There is no cap on the number of applications that can be sent to an individual Region, but the overall number of applications that an institution can endorse will be a maximum of 24.

All applicants must complete and submit their applications no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 26 September 2023. Recommenders should submit letters or recommendation by the same deadline. The application will then be processed by your endorsing institution for submission. No changes will be able to be made to the application after this date.

Final submission of the application, including the three letters of recommendation and letter of endorsement, must be submitted online by the endorsing institution and received at the regional centre no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 28 September 2023.

NB: A pdf of the candidate's official Academic transcripts must be submitted online. Digital or scanned copies of the transcript are acceptable. Unofficial transcripts are not acceptable, and if these are included the application may be considered ineligible. The Commission recommends that applications be submitted well in advance of the deadline to avoid any last-minute issues.

12. Candidates invited for interview must bring with them evidence of date of birth and US citizenship (i.e. a passport).

SELECTION

13. As future leaders, with a lasting understanding of British society, Marshall Scholars will strengthen the enduring relationship between the British and American peoples, their governments and their institutions. Marshall Scholars are talented, independent and wide-ranging in their interests and their time as Scholars will enhance their intellectual and personal growth. Their direct engagement with Britain through its best academic programmes will contribute to their ultimate personal success.
14. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission is looking for candidates who have the potential to excel as scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. In doing so, the Commission recognises the value of diversity among applicants and promotes equality of opportunity and is committed to ensuring the selection process is fair and equal.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will assess applicants based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found at <https://www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/criteria-and-who-is-eligible>.

15. Applications will be received and reviewed at eight regional centres in the United States (outlined in Section 26). Shortlisted candidates will be notified if they have been selected for interview by early-mid November.

Candidates invited for interview must provide evidence of their date of birth and US citizenship (i.e. passport) and a copy of their original transcript to the Regional Centre.

The final selection will be announced shortly after interview. Those nominated for a scholarship will be offered a scholarship in writing and will be asked to accept or decline this offer, also in writing, within 5 days of receiving the offer. In keeping with other UK government-funded programs, the Marshall Commission asks Scholars to give a definitive and final response in this way so that the Commission can begin providing support. All awards are ultimately subject to the ability of those nominated for a Scholarship to receive an offer to study at a British university.

16. If candidates are required to attend an in-person interview in the region in which they have applied, they may be reimbursed for their travel expenses. Such expenses may not exceed the cost of a round-trip airfare (at the most economical rate available) and overnight accommodation if unavoidable. Candidates will receive further instruction and will only be reimbursed if they follow the guidelines provided. In cases where interviews are conducted virtually, there will be no reimbursement for interview costs.
17. Overseas applicants. Applications will be accepted from qualified persons residing outside the United States only if they send an email to the Regional Centre which includes a signed undertaking that they will return to the US at their own expense if invited for interview.

TENURE FOR THE ONE YEAR MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIP

18. A one-year Marshall Scholarship is tenable for one academic year (i.e., 12 months). It is a condition of the award that Marshall Scholars must proceed to a degree that can be completed within the 12-month tenure. It should be noted that courses that run for less than 10 months will not be funded on this Scholarship.

The one-year Marshall Scholarships cannot be extended beyond the 12 month tenure.

19. Scholars are required to enroll at a British university for the full year of their award as full-time students proceeding to a higher degree.

As a Marshall Scholarship is intended to give the holder an opportunity to see as much as possible of the United Kingdom, meet its people and observe its institutions, Scholars will be expected to spend the majority of their vacation time in the country.

Academic study proposals involving lengthy periods away from the university or outside the United Kingdom will not be accepted. – more information can be found in the Scholar Handbook.

All visits (for academic or non-academic reasons) overseas including to the United States are subject to approval by the Marshall Commission and may not exceed 30 days in an academic year. If permission is given by the Commission to exceed this limit Scholars may be subject to a loss of stipend for this period.

20. Scholars' supervisors or directors of study at their UK universities will be asked to report at the end of their award to the Commission on their academic progress and general conduct. Should a Scholar be dismissed from his/her university for any reason, the Scholarship will be immediately terminated.

MARRIAGE

21. Applicants are required to notify any change in their marital status to the regional centre to which they have applied or, if already selected for an award, to the Commission in London.
22. The Commission does not offer an additional allowance for married Scholars but has discretion to pay the fares of the families of married Scholars and to meet the cost of shipping a reasonable amount of baggage.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS AND EARNED INCOME

23. Candidates are asked to state on their application form whether they have applied, or intend to apply, for any similar scholarships. Marshall Scholarships cannot be held concurrently with any scholarship or award of like value.

The Commission reserves the right to abate or withdraw its Scholarships in instances where Scholars are beneficiaries of other significant awards, prizes or earned income. Scholars are required to disclose if they will be in receipt of any other scholarships.

Marshall Scholars are able to undertake part-time paid employment while in the UK but this is subject to Home Office Regulations, university/college regulations, and individual Scholars' overall commitment to their studies in the UK and conditions of award. Scholars should remember that their academic studies are of paramount importance and should be given due priority.

Candidates who are in the military, and are receiving a salary, will receive a reduced maintenance allowance.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR SCHOLARS

24. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission reserves the right to withdraw an offer of Scholarship under various conditions including if a Scholar or Scholar Elect engages in behaviour that is in violation of the Scholar Code of Conduct.

As a Marshall Scholar or Scholar Elect, the holder is an ambassador for both the Marshall Commission and the United States of America, and their actions and remarks will have an impact on the reputation of both. Scholars are therefore expected to adhere to high standards of conduct and behaviour and to show respect to others and your surroundings at all times.

The Marshall Commission aims to enable a free exchange of ideas during all its activities in order to achieve the maximum potential impact for all participants. Recognising the diversity of backgrounds among our award holders – in terms of race, religion, gender, sexuality and cultural values –

Scholars are reminded to always be respectful to others.

The Marshall Commission is committed to proactively safeguarding and promoting the welfare of Marshall Scholars, and to protecting all those with whom the Commission comes into contact. The Commission requires Commissioners, Secretariat staff, and Scholars and Fellows to fulfil their role and responsibilities in a manner consistent with requirements for safeguarding.

Any complaints received will be taken very seriously and any behaviour that does not adhere to the above values and expectations will be addressed by the Marshall Commission.

FURTHER INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

ADMINISTRATION

26. Full details of administrative arrangements will be given to Scholars with notification of their awards, but in considering whether to apply for an award, candidates may like to be aware of the points covered in paragraphs 29-34 below.
27. Passages. Fares for Marshall Scholars will be paid from their place of residence in the United States to their university in the United Kingdom. The fares will cover economy class air travel in the United States, economy class transatlantic air fares and standard class train fares in the United Kingdom. No other expenses of travel can be met but the Commission has discretion to pay the fares of the families of married Scholars and to meet the cost of shipping a reasonable amount of unaccompanied baggage across the Atlantic. Subject to satisfactory completion of studies in the United Kingdom, fares will be paid for return journeys on the same basis. Scholars are not debarred from travelling by other means or at other rates to take up their award, but no reimbursement can exceed the actual amount expended nor the equivalent of the cost of the passages described above.

All Marshall Scholars must apply for Entry Clearance before they arrive in the UK. The Marshall Commission has special arrangements for Scholars' applications and information will be sent once a placement has been secured

28. In most cases, Scholars will be expected to travel to the United Kingdom from Washington D.C. as a group and arrangements for the transatlantic flight will be made by the British Embassy in Washington. Information about the travel in the United States will also be available from the British Embassy in Washington. Scholars who for special reasons obtain permission to make independent travel arrangements must arrange to arrive in time for the beginning of their academic studies and will, on arrival in the UK, be reimbursed for the cost of their passage up to the permissible maximum indicated in the paragraph above.
29. The Commission has no responsibility for insurance against sickness, accident, or death either for candidates in the United States or for selected Scholars travelling to or from or residing in the United Kingdom. Although eligible for medical treatment in the United Kingdom (see paragraph below), Scholars are advised to maintain ongoing health insurance in the United States during their period of tenure should they wish. Scholars are also advised to make adequate arrangements for insurance of personal possessions when travelling and while residing in the United Kingdom.
30. Overseas students will pay a health tariff when applying for their visa (this tariff will be paid on behalf of Marshall Scholars) and will therefore be entitled to free medical attention under the British National Health Service (NHS) while in the United Kingdom. Many British universities have their own panel of doctors available for students. It is recommended that before arriving in the UK, Scholars should meet any immunisation requirements given by the Universities as condition for registration. It is also recommended that Scholars consult with their US doctor about any ongoing medication they will need access to, in case it is unavailable in the UK.

31. Scholarship stipends will be paid to Scholars in quarterly instalments spread over the academic year in accordance with the directions of the Commission.
32. Marshall Scholars are strongly advised to take advantage of university/college housing whenever this is available. If Scholars choose to live privately, it is recommended that Scholars wait until after they arrive to the UK to finalise accommodation or sign any agreements. Scholars should consult the accommodation team at their UK university for any queries about housing. The Commission cannot act as a guarantor.
33. Married Scholars or those contemplating bringing partners with them are advised that they will be required to demonstrate additional funds to UKVI as part of their visa application. UK government regulations permit spouses/long term partners accompanying Scholars to undertake paid employment for the duration of the award, and so the Commission recommends that employment opportunities are explored before arriving in the UK. More information can be found here: <https://www.gov.uk/student-visa/family-members>.

THE BRITISH UNIVERSITIES

34. Higher education in the United Kingdom is provided in a wide variety of universities. A full list of institutions at which Marshall Scholarships are tenable follows. However, in certain instances, awards may be held at other institutions which offer degree courses in partnership with and validated by a university.
35. Candidates are advised to find out all they can about UK universities and the availability of their desired programme of study or research project since facilities vary from one institution to another. Some programmes which are commonly available in the universities and colleges of the United States may not be found in British universities or may have different requirements.
36. The majority of British students usually enter university directly following their secondary school (High School) education, of which the last two years at least will have been largely devoted to specialised preparation for their proposed university programme, admission to which is by competitive selection. In general they study (or "read") for three or four years for a degree in one particular subject, and do not cover the wide field of studies usually required in American institutions. Marshall Scholars choosing graduate programmes in the UK will therefore find that a considerable measure specialised attainment is expected in their chosen subject.

37. The minimum period of study for a dental, medical or veterinary science degree in the UK is five years; it is therefore not possible to undertake clinical training in these subjects on a Scholarship.

RULES FOR CANDIDATES WISHING TO APPLY FOR A TWO YEAR MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIP

Marshall Scholarships finance young Americans of high ability to study for a degree in the United Kingdom in a system of higher education recognised for its excellence.

Founded by a 1953 Act of Parliament, Marshall Scholarships are mainly funded by the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office and commemorate the humane ideals of the Marshall Plan conceived by General George C Marshall. They express the continuing gratitude of the British people to their American counterparts.

The objectives of the Marshall Scholarships are:

- To enable intellectually distinguished young Americans, their country's future leaders, to study in the UK.
- To help Scholars gain an understanding and appreciation of contemporary Britain.
- To contribute to the advancement of knowledge in science, technology, the humanities and social sciences and the creative arts at Britain's centres of academic excellence.
- To motivate Scholars to act as ambassadors from the USA to the UK and vice versa throughout their lives thus strengthening British American understanding.
- To promote the personal and academic fulfilment of each Scholar.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will look for candidates who have the potential to excel as Scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. Assessment will be based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found on the website.

The conditions of award, application and selection procedures are set out in this document. Conditions governing One Year Scholarships are set out in a separate set of Rules.

GENERAL

1. Up to fifty Marshall Scholarships will be awarded in 2024. They are tenable at any British university and for study in any discipline at graduate level, leading to the award of a British university degree (courses not funded are outlined below).

NB university degrees may be referred to as courses or programmes.

2. Candidates are invited to indicate first and second choice courses at the same or different universities. Expressions of interest in studying at universities other than Oxford, Cambridge and London institutions are particularly welcomed. Candidates are especially encouraged to consider the Marshall Partnership Universities. A course search facility is available here:

<https://www.marshallscholarship.org/study-in-the-uk/course-search>

NB: The selection of Scholars is based on our published criteria:

<https://www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/eligibility>

This includes, under the academic criteria, a range of factors, including a candidate's choice of course and university.

Therefore, selected candidates will be expected to apply to their first-choice university and course listed on their Marshall application.

Requests to change after selection will not be considered unless candidates are unsuccessful in the outcome of their first-choice application, or the course is no longer running.

3. Candidates do not need to have applied for or been accepted at a British university before they apply for a Marshall Scholarship. However, applicants should be aware that there are some courses with early deadlines at institutions (including but not limited to University of Oxford, University of Cambridge and the Royal Academy of Music) that have early deadlines throughout October – early January which could precede an offer of the scholarship or correspondence from the Commission. Applicants are encouraged to remain informed of course deadlines and should prepare accordingly.

Once a Scholar has been selected and accepted the offer, they will receive a confirmation letter from the Commission in early to mid-December and will be expected to complete an application for their first choice UK university programme (if not already completed). The decision to accept a Scholar is with the University, and the Commission has no influence on the outcome of UK university applications. The Marshall Commission cannot, therefore, guarantee that a Marshall Scholar will be admitted to the university of their choice. The Marshall team will be available during this process, and we encourage Scholars to seek advice and guidance at the earliest opportunity (please note that the offices will be closed during the holiday period).

When a Scholar applies to a course at Oxford or Cambridge, the Commission will identify the College that the Scholar should list on their application as their preference. Partner Colleges listed in Section 9 will be prioritised.

4. Final selection of candidates is made by eight regional selection panels in the US.

AWARDS

5. The total value of a Marshall Scholarship varies according to the circumstances (place of residence, selected university, etc.) of each Scholar. Scholars will receive the following:
- a personal allowance to cover residence and cost of living expenses at the current stipend rate of £1,236 per month for Scholars studying outside of London and £1,516 for those studying in London. The stipend rates are set by the UK government and are updated in October each year and the first quarterly payment is received upon arrival to the UK.;
 - payment of tuition fees;
 - fares to and from the United States;
 - Claimable allowances totalling approximately £3,500 include but are not limited to:
 - a grant for books;
 - a grant for approved travel in connection with studies;
 - payment of necessary daily expenses for travel between place of residence and place of study, provided the distance between the two is reasonable;
 - a grant for the cost of preparation of any thesis submitted for examination, if required;
 - shipping of property to and from the United States
6. Marshall Scholarships are not subject to UK Income Tax but may be considered taxable income by the US Internal Revenue Service.

ELIGIBILITY

7. To qualify for 2024 Two Year awards, candidates should:
- be citizens of the United States of America (at the time they apply for a scholarship);
 - (by the time they take up their scholarship i.e. September 2024) hold their first undergraduate degree from an accredited four-year college or university in the United States;
 - have obtained a grade point average of not less than 3.7 on their undergraduate degree at the time of application (the most up-to-date undergraduate GPA the candidate has received will be used; final transcripts will be requested at the interview stage).
 - have graduated from their first undergraduate college or university after April 2021.
 - not have studied for or hold a degree or degree-equivalent qualification from a UK University or GCSE or A level qualifications undertaken in the UK.

Candidates are only allowed to apply for either the one year or the two-year Marshall Scholarship. Any candidate found applying for both will automatically be disqualified.

COURSE SELECTION

8. The following degree courses are NOT funded on the two-year Marshall Scholarship:
- Degree courses with overseas tuition fees exceeding £40,000. (The ONLY exception is the MPP course at the University of Oxford for one Scholar. As part of our Brasenose-Blavatnik partnership, if multiple Scholars are selected to apply for the MPP at Oxford and successful in their MPP application, Brasenose-Blavatnik will determine the Scholar who will receive the partner award. Scholars not chosen for the partner award will be expected to apply to and attend their second-choice course/university.)
 - Second BA/BSc (undergraduate) Degrees
 - MBA (any university)
 - MSc/MFE Financial Economics (any university)
 - PG Diplomas/Certificates in any subject (any university)
 - Degree courses leading to professional qualifications in medicine, dentistry, veterinary science and law (these degrees typically take 5 years to complete)
 - Degree courses that require extended periods away from the University or the UK, including joint degrees with universities not in the UK
 - Distance Learning degree courses, including courses with large VLE or online components.
 - Master's degree courses exceeding 12 or 24 months, including 15 or 28 month Masters degree courses
 - Supervised research not leading to a degree qualification
 - Degree courses that start in January
 - Part-time degree courses

NB: Candidates should read course descriptions and structures thoroughly. Candidates who list any of the qualifications not funded by the Marshall Commission on their application will not be invited to an interview.

In addition, if a candidate puts Oxford, Cambridge or Imperial College, King's College London, LSE or UCL as their first-choice institution, none of these universities can be listed as second choice institutions.

The following should also be noted:

- University of London: under the university's regulations it is not possible to complete a research MPhil degree in less than two years.
- University of Cambridge: under the university's regulations it is not possible to undertake two MPhil degrees at Cambridge.

NB: Candidates for all of these Scholarships will compete in the main Marshall Scholarship competition and if no-one of sufficient quality is found these Scholarships will not be offered.

10. NIH Marshall Scholarships. These Scholarships are jointly funded by the Marshall Commission and the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD. These Scholarships will support research students specifically in the subject areas of bioscience, medicine and related disciplines with a predominant application in bioscience. Applicants may study at any appropriate UK Institution. Anyone who is selected for a Marshall Scholarship in Biosciences and wishes to complete a PhD will be eligible for this Scholarship. For more information please see:

<https://www.marshallscholarship.org/study-in-the-uk/partnership-scholarships>

NB: to apply for this programme you will need to apply for both the Marshall Scholarship and the NIH Programme. If you wish to apply for a non-Oxford/Cambridge please indicate on your NIH application that you are applying for a Marshall Scholarship.

MAKING AN APPLICATION

11. Candidates may apply in one region only - either that in which they have their permanent home address or ordinary place of residence/employment, or that in which they are studying. Any candidate applying in more than one region will automatically be disqualified. Any candidate found to be falsifying their permanent address will automatically be disqualified.

12. Each candidate must submit the application on the online form provided.

Applications must be endorsed by the President, Provost, or Academic Dean of the applicant's undergraduate educational institution. The online application must be submitted and authorised by a designated member of staff at the applicant's undergraduate educational institution.

In exceptional circumstances candidates may be nominated by their Graduate School. However, special permission must be sought from the Marshall Commission. If the candidate's institution has set an internal deadline for candidates to submit to their institution, the date will be displayed on the online application form. Applicants should speak to their institutions' designated member of staff for questions about the internal deadline.

No endorsing institution may submit more than 24 applications overall. There is no cap on the number of applications that can be sent to an individual Region, but the overall number of applications that an institution can endorse will be a maximum of 24.

All applicants must complete and submit their applications no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 26 September 2023. Recommenders should submit their letters of recommendation by the same deadline. The application will then be processed by your endorsing institution for submission. No changes will be able to be made to the application after this date.

Final submission of the application, including the letter of endorsement, must be submitted online by the endorsing institution no later than 5:00pm in the time zone where your endorsing institution is located on 28 September 2023.

NB: A pdf of the candidate's official Academic transcripts must be submitted online. Digital or scanned copies of the transcript are acceptable. Unofficial transcripts are not acceptable, and if these are included the application may be considered ineligible. The Commission recommends that applications be submitted well in advance of the deadline to avoid any last-minute issues.

SELECTION

13. As future leaders, with a lasting understanding of British society, Marshall Scholars will strengthen the enduring relationship between the British and American peoples, their governments and their institutions. Marshall Scholars are talented, independent and wide-ranging in their interests and their time as Scholars will enhance their intellectual and personal growth. Their direct engagement with Britain through its best academic programmes will contribute to their ultimate personal success.

14. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission is looking for candidates who have the potential to excel as scholars, as leaders and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding. In doing so, the Commission recognises the value of diversity among applicants and promotes equality of opportunity and is committed to ensuring the selection process is fair and equal.

In appointing Scholars, the Selectors will assess applicants based on academic merit, leadership potential and ambassadorial potential. Details of the criteria used for selection can be found at <https://www.marshallscholarship.org/apply/criteria-and-who-is-eligible>.

15. Applications will be received and reviewed at eight regional centres in the United States (outlined in Section 26). Shortlisted candidates will be notified if they have been selected for interview by early mid-November.

Candidates invited for interview must provide evidence of their date of birth and US citizenship (i.e. passport) and a copy of their original transcript to the Regional Centre.

The final selection will be announced shortly after interview. Those nominated for a scholarship will be offered a scholarship in writing and will be asked to accept or decline this offer in writing within 5 days of receiving the offer. In keeping with other UK government-funded programs, the Marshall Commission asks Scholars to give a definitive and final response in this way, so that the Commission can begin providing support. All awards are ultimately subject to the ability of those nominated for a Scholarship to receive an offer to study at a British university.

16. If candidates are required to attend an in-person interview in the region in which they have applied, they may be reimbursed for their travel expenses. Such expenses may not exceed the cost of a round-trip airfare (at the most economical rate available) and overnight accommodation if unavoidable. Candidates will receive further instruction and will only be reimbursed if they follow the guidelines provided. In cases where interviews are conducted virtually, there will be no reimbursement for interview costs.

17. Applications will be accepted from eligible candidates residing outside the United States at the time of application. Overseas applicants are required to notify the Regional Centre of their situation and may be required to sign a form stating that they will return to the US at their own expense if invited for interview.

TENURE

18. A two-year Marshall Scholarship is tenable for two academic years. It is a condition of the award that Marshall Scholars must proceed to a degree that can be completed within the two-year tenure. Candidates who apply for the two-year Scholarship are expected to study in the UK for this period. If they do not wish to do this they should consider applying for the one-year Marshall Scholarship (see separate rules).

It is possible to undertake two one-year Masters degrees. If the degree proposed is a one-year programme it will be necessary for the applicant to consider what course of study might be undertaken in the second year. This could be another one-year degree either at the same institution or at a different UK university or perhaps a research degree.

Two year Scholarships may only be extended by the Commission for Scholars who begin a PhD in their second year. Third-year extensions are granted by the Commission on a limited basis, for strong academic reasons, subject to the availability of funds. Funding will not be extended beyond a third year.

Scholars who apply to and are selected for the scholarship to uptake a PhD will be eligible to receive third year funding without applying. To receive third year funding, Scholars will need to demonstrate to the Commission during their second year that they are on track to complete their degree.

In addition:

- Up to three third-year extensions may be granted by the University of Oxford to those pursuing a doctorate at Oxford.
- Up to two third year extensions may be granted by the University of Cambridge to those pursuing a doctorate at Cambridge.

Most of the Marshall Partnership Scholarships are for up to three years, if Scholars undertake a doctoral programme (subject to academic progress).

19. Scholars are required to enrol at a British university for the full two years of their award as full-time students proceeding to a higher degree.

If Scholars study for two one-year degrees, they may be registered at two different UK Universities during their tenure.

As a Marshall Scholarship is intended to give the holder an opportunity to see as much as possible of the United Kingdom, meet its people and observe its institutions, Scholars will be expected to spend the majority of their vacation time in the country.

Academic study proposals involving lengthy periods away from the university or outside the United Kingdom will not be accepted – more information can be found in the Scholar Handbook.

Non-academic visits overseas including to the United States are subject to approval by the Marshall Commission and should not exceed 30 days in an academic year, if permission is given by the Commission to exceed this limit Scholars may be subject to a loss of stipend for this period.

20. Scholars' supervisors or directors of study at their UK universities will be asked to report annually to the Commission on their academic progress and general conduct. Should a Scholar be dismissed from his/her university for any reason, the Scholarship will be immediately terminated.

MARRIAGE

21. Applicants are required to notify any change in their marital status to the regional centre to which they have applied or, if already selected for an award, to the Commission in London.

22. The Commission does not offer an additional allowance for married Scholars but has discretion to pay the fares of the families of married Scholars and to meet the cost of shipping a reasonable amount of baggage.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS AND EARNED INCOME

23. Candidates are asked to state on their application form whether they have applied, or intend to apply, for any similar scholarships. Marshall Scholarships cannot be held concurrently with any scholarship or award of like value.

The Commission reserves the right to abate or withdraw its Scholarships in instances where Scholars are beneficiaries of other significant awards, prizes or earned income. Scholars are required to disclose if they will be in receipt of other scholarships.

Marshall Scholars are able to undertake part-time paid employment while in the UK but this is subject to Home Office Regulations, university/college regulations, and individual Scholars' overall commitment to their studies in the UK and conditions of award. Scholars should remember that their academic studies are of paramount importance and should be given due priority.

Candidates who are in the military, and are receiving a salary, will receive a reduced maintenance allowance.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR SCHOLARS

24. The Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission reserves the right to withdraw an offer of Scholarship under various conditions including if a Scholar or Scholar Elect engages in behaviour that is in violation of the Scholar Code of Conduct.

As a Marshall Scholar or Scholar Elect, the holder is an ambassador for both the Marshall Commission and the United States of America, and their actions and remarks will have an impact on the reputation of both. Scholars are therefore expected to adhere to high standards of conduct and behaviour and to always show respect to others and your surroundings at all times.

The Marshall Commission aims to enable a free exchange of ideas during all its activities in order to achieve the maximum potential impact for all participants. Recognising the diversity of backgrounds among our award holders – in terms of race, religion, gender, sexuality and cultural values – Scholars are reminded to always be respectful to others.

The Marshall Commission is committed to proactively safeguarding and promoting the welfare of Marshall Scholars, and to protecting all those with whom the Commission comes into contact. The Commission requires Commissioners, Secretariat staff, and Scholars and Fellows to fulfil their role and responsibilities in a manner consistent with requirements for safeguarding.

Any complaints received will be taken very seriously and any behaviour that does not adhere to the above values and expectations will be addressed by the Marshall Commission.

FURTHER INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

ADMINISTRATION

26. Full details of administrative arrangements will be given to Scholars with notification of their awards, but in considering whether to apply for an award, candidates may like to be aware of the points covered below.

27. Fares for Marshall Scholars will be paid from their place of residence in the United States to their university in the United Kingdom. The fares will cover economy class air travel in the United States, economy class transatlantic air fares to the United Kingdom. No other expenses of travel can be met but the Commission has discretion to pay the fares of the families of married Scholars and to meet the cost of shipping a reasonable amount of unaccompanied baggage across the Atlantic. Subject to satisfactory completion of studies in the United Kingdom, fares will be paid for return journeys on the same basis. Scholars are not debarred from travelling by other means or at other rates to take up their award, but no reimbursement can exceed the actual amount expended nor the equivalent of the cost of the passages described above.

28. All Marshall Scholars must apply for Entry Clearance/visa before they arrive in the UK. The Marshall Commission has special arrangements for Scholars' visa applications and information will be sent once a placement has been received.

29. In most cases, Scholars will be expected to travel to the United Kingdom from Washington D.C. as a group and arrangements for the transatlantic flight will be made by the British Embassy in Washington. Information about the travel in the United States will also be available from the British Embassy in Washington. Scholars who for special reasons obtain permission to make independent travel arrangements must arrange to arrive in time for the beginning of their academic studies and will, on arrival in the UK, be reimbursed the cost of their passage up to the permissible maximum indicated in the paragraph above.

30. The Commission has no responsibility for insurance against sickness, accident, or death either for candidates in the United States or for selected Scholars travelling to or from or residing in the United Kingdom. Although eligible for medical treatment in the United Kingdom (see paragraph below), Scholars are advised to maintain ongoing health insurance in the United States during their period of tenure should they wish. Scholars are also advised to make adequate arrangements for insurance of personal possessions when travelling and while residing in the United Kingdom.

31. Overseas students will pay a health tariff when applying for their visa (this tariff will be paid on behalf of Marshall Scholars) and will therefore be entitled to free medical attention under the British National Health Service (NHS) while in the United Kingdom. It is recommended that before arriving in the UK, Scholars should meet any immunisation requirements given by the Universities as condition for registration. It is also recommended that Scholars consult with their US doctor about any ongoing medication they will need access to, in case it is unavailable in the UK.

32. Scholarship stipends will be paid to Scholars quarterly instalments spread over the academic year in accordance with the directions of the Commission.

33. Marshall Scholars are strongly advised to take advantage of university/college housing whenever this is available. If Scholars choose to live privately, it is recommended that Scholars wait until after they arrive to the UK to finalise accommodation or sign any agreements. Scholars should consult the accommodation team at their UK university for any queries about housing. The Commission cannot act as a guarantor.

34. Married Scholars or those contemplating bringing partners with them are advised that they will be required to demonstrate additional funds to UKVI as part of their visa application. UK government regulations permit spouses/long term partners who are on a dependant visa to undertake paid employment for the duration of the award, and so the Commission recommends that employment opportunities are explored before arriving in the UK. More information can be found here: <https://www.gov.uk/student-visa/family-members>.

THE BRITISH UNIVERSITIES

35. Higher education in the United Kingdom is provided in a wide variety of universities. A full list of institutions at which Marshall Scholarships are tenable is outlined below. However, in certain instances, awards may be held at other institutions which offer degree courses in partnership with and validated by a university.

36. Candidates are advised to find out all they can about UK universities and the availability of their desired programme of study or research project since facilities vary from one institution to another. Some programmes which are commonly available in the universities and colleges of the United States may not be found in British universities or may have different requirements.

37. The majority of British students usually enter university directly following their secondary school (High School) education, of which the last two years at least will have been largely devoted to specialised preparation for their proposed university programme, admission to which is by competitive selection. In general they study (or "read") for three or four years for a degree in one particular subject, and do not cover the wide field of studies usually required in American institutions. Marshall Scholars choosing graduate programmes in the UK will therefore find that a considerable measure of specialised attainment is expected in their chosen subject.

38. Applicants wishing to proceed to a doctoral degree in a British university should know that such a degree is obtained by undertaking a programme of supervised research. A research student usually has to be accepted on a personal basis by his/her department head and is expected to carry out an approved research project in consultation with a supervisor appointed for the purpose. Many British universities do not have separate graduate schools, and a research student is expected to attend few, if any, regular classes. The instruction is mostly individual and supervisory. Candidates wishing to undertake research should have specialised knowledge of a particular discipline and some experience of original work in it. For the humanities and social sciences many universities in the UK will expect doctoral candidates to have already completed a Masters degree.

39. As a PhD (or DPhil) degree takes a minimum of three years of research, Marshall Scholars who do not already have research experience are recommended to consider a Master's degree. As almost all Scholars coming to the UK have only a Bachelor's degree from their American university, some may find it preferable to study for taught Masters course, where this can be completed in one or two years rather than a research based course.

40. The minimum period of study for a dental, medical or veterinary science degree in the UK is five years; it is therefore not possible to undertake clinical training in these or equivalent subjects on a Scholarship.
