Hiking Scotland's
Orkney & Shetland Islands

July 10-20, 2024 (11 days | 15 guests)
with Carleton Professor Sarah Titus

This tour requires an elevated level of fitness.
Dear Carleton College alumni and friends,

I invite you to join Carleton College geologist Sarah Titus on this unique hiking tour in Scotland’s little-visited Orkney and Shetland Islands!

This is the perfect opportunity to explore on foot Scotland’s Northern Isles’ amazing wealth of geological and archaeological sites plus seabird colonies. Their rocks tell the whole story, spanning almost three billion years. On Shetland, a UNESCO Global Geopark, you will walk on an ancient ocean floor, explore an extinct volcano, and stroll across shifting sands, all in the space of a day. In contrast, Orkney is made up largely of sedimentary rocks, one of the best collections of these sediments to be seen anywhere in the world. Both archipelagoes also have an amazing wealth of archaeological sites dating back 5,000 years. This geological and archaeological saga is worth the telling, and nowhere else can the evidence be seen in more glorious a setting.

This active land tour features daily hikes that are easy to moderate in difficulty, so to fully enjoy and visit all the sites on this itinerary one should be in good walking condition (and, obviously, enjoy hiking!).

Highlights include:

- The “Heart of Neolithic Orkney,” inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1999, including the chambered tomb of Maeshowe, estimated to have been constructed around 2700 B.C.; the 4,000-year-old Ring of Brodgar, one of Europe’s finest Neolithic monuments; the Ness of Brodgar, a massive ceremonial complex that, in its heyday, must have completely dominated the landscape; and Skara Brae settlement. These are unquestionably among the most important Neolithic sites in western Europe.

- Walking across the tombolo, a spit of sand, to St. Ninian’s Isle, Shetland.

- Eshaness, Shetland, with some of the most spectacular coastal scenery in the Northern Isles. Its cliffs that we see today cut right through the flank of a long-extinct volcano.

- Birdwatching in the Isles, one of the major seabird breeding and feeding areas in the North Atlantic, where more than a million birds breed in very large colonies.

Our guides will explain in advance the difficulty of each day’s hike(s) and, if you prefer, you can opt out of any hiking excursion and be driven to the next stop; but, bear in mind that most sites can only be visited if you approach them by foot. The hiking duration for each day is estimated within the following itinerary.

All meals are included, and you will enjoy comfortable accommodations: three nights at the elegant Lynnfield Hotel on Orkney, a comfortable overnight ferry to Shetland, four nights at the remote, charming Busta House Hotel on Shetland, and a final night in Aberdeen.

We hope you will join us!

Sincerely,

Micah Evans ’02
President, Carleton College Alumni Association

Sarah Titus, Professor of Geology, has taught classes at Carleton since 2006 including tectonics, structural geology, and geophysics (co-taught with her father, Emeritus Professor Bill Titus). She has co-led the Geology department’s off-campus program in New Zealand four times since 2012, and leads numerous field trips for classes and the department, especially to southern California. Sarah’s research is focused in two directions: on the San Andreas fault and how plate motion is taken up in central California; and on oceanic plates with major faults and how these systems deform, with field sites in Iceland, Cyprus, and New Caledonia. Sarah speaks Norwegian, after living there for two stints in the 1990s, and she hopes to dust off her language skills for Shetland. In her free time, she enjoys swimming and dabbles in crafts including ceramics, spoon carving, knitting and, most recently, watercolor.
Wednesday, July 10, 2024: Depart home

Thursday, July 11: Aberdeen, Scotland | Ferry to Kirkwall, Orkney

Upon your arrival at Aberdeen International Airport (ABZ) in Scotland, at no later than 2pm, you will be met there and transferred to the ferry terminal where our group will board the ferry to Kirkwall, Orkney. We will have dinner aboard the ferry, arrive in Kirkwall at about 11pm, and transfer to our hotel. Overnight at The Lynnfield Hotel for three nights. (D)

Friday, July 12: Neolithic Orkney | Kirkwall | Welcome dinner
Distance 2 mi. Height climbed: negligible

Following breakfast, we will visit several important Neolithic sites on mainland Orkney, from the Ring of Brodgar, via the Ness of Brodgar excavations, to the Standing Stones of Stenness and Maeshowe, which is Britain’s largest chambered cairn. This, the ‘Heart of Neolithic Orkney,’ which also includes Skara Brae (a site we will visit tomorrow), was inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1999. Return to Kirkwall, the “capital of Orkney,” for an afternoon at leisure. Gather this evening for a welcome dinner. (B,L,D)

Saturday, July 13: Skara Brae | Yesnaby | Stromness | Kirkwall
Distance 4 mi. Height climbed: 300 ft.

Today we witness the wreckage of the mountains as represented by the Stromness Flagstone group of rocks. These were ideally suited as building materials and were used by the builders of the Neolithic settlement of Skara Brae, possibly Orkney’s most exciting archaeological site, which was buried by a sandstorm in about 2450 B.C. It was well preserved and then revealed by another storm in 1850. After visiting Skara Brae we will walk south along the spectacular coast to Yesnaby, with its geos, natural arches, caves, sea stacks, and outcrops of igneous basement rocks; and visit the town of Stromness, an intimate, stone-built port huddled against the sea. (B,L,D)

Sunday, July 14: Isle of Hoy | Kirkwall | Ferry from Kirkwall to Lerwick, Shetland
Distance 5 mi. Height climbed: 720 ft.

This morning we will take the ferry to Hoy, the highest and wildest of all Orkney Islands. Our walk will take us to the world-famous sea stack (at 450 ft.) known as The Old Man of Hoy. Return by ferry to Kirkwall, mainland Orkney, in the afternoon. Dinner tonight will be at The Lynnfield Hotel, before we take the overnight ferry from Kirkwall to Shetland at about 11pm. (B,L,D)
Monday, July 15: Lerwick, Shetland | Jarlshof | St. Ninian’s Isle | Isle of Mousa | Brae

Distance 4 mi. Height climbed: 250 ft.

We arrive this morning in Lerwick, Shetland – all of Shetland, comprising more than 100 islands, only 15 of which are inhabited, is a UNESCO Global Geopark. After breakfast on the ferry we drive south to Jarlshof, which was occupied for more than 4,000 years. The site boasts a remarkable sequence of stone structures, from late Neolithic houses to a 16th-century laird’s house. Our next stop is St. Ninian’s Isle, which is connected to mainland Shetland by a tombolo (a bar of sand, or shingle). St. Ninian’s was settled in pre-Norse times, and the remains of an old chapel are still visible. We will walk across the tombolo and visit the site of the chapel. This afternoon we take a boat to the uninhabited island of Mousa, which is famous for its Iron Age broch—the world’s best-preserved Pictish broch. It rises to 40 feet, and the skill and accuracy of its builders has resulted in a 2,000-year-old construction that appears today as though the builders have just laid the last stone and gone home for the night. Back on mainland Shetland we will transfer to our hotel near Brae. Overnight at the Busta House Hotel for four nights. (B,L,D)

Tuesday, July 16: North Roe | Fethaland | Brae

Distance 6 mi. Height climbed: 1,000 ft.

Today we visit North Roe, where we will see at Ollaberry a good exposure of the Walls Boundary fault, part of the Great Glen fault (similar to the San Andreas) that crosses the highlands of Scotland as well as Shetland. Our hike continues on to Fethaland, the northernmost part of Shetland’s mainland. Along the way, we see a common seal colony, a ruined Haaf (meaning “open sea”) fishing station from the 18th/19th centuries, and a Viking soapstone (steatite) quarry. (B,L,D)

Wednesday, July 17: Isle of Unst | Brae

Distance 6 mi. Height climbed: 1,200 ft.

Unst consists of a block of oceanic crust thrust, which is very much out of place. These enormous masses of thrust rock (called ophiolites) give a rare glimpse into the Earth’s deep interior. Along our way we will encounter some very interesting botany, a Viking longship and replica longhouse, and the northernmost cliffs of the British Isles, from where we have a good view of Muckle Flugga lighthouse. (B,L,D)
Thursday, July 18: Eshaness | Brae | Farewell dinner
Distance 4.5 mi. Height climbed: 200 ft.
The Eshaness peninsula tells a fascinating story of a long extinct volcano. The spectacular cliffs we see today cut right through the flank of what was the Eshaness volcano. It is the best section through the flank of a volcano in the British Isles and a geological ‘must.’ The sea has exploited cracks in the volcanic bedrock to carve out the dramatic array of stacks, geos, and blowholes including the Hols o Scraada (Old Scratch, or the Devil), which were formed when the roof caved in at the end of a deep and narrow sea cave stretching more than one hundred yards from the coast. Another highlight is an active storm beach still being shaped by hurricane force winds from the Atlantic in the winter. Gather this evening for a farewell dinner. (B,L,D)

Friday, July 19: Lerwick | Sumburgh | Fly to Aberdeen
This morning we drive to the waterfront town of Lerwick for a tour of its Shetland Museum & Archives. The Museum’s collections focus specifically on the Shetland Islands, from archaeological finds to natural and maritime history, local industry and folkways, and more. After lunch, enjoy some time to explore Lerwick independently. Transfer this afternoon to the airport at Sumburgh for a short flight to Aberdeen, where we check-in to a conveniently located hotel. Overnight at Holiday Inn Express Aberdeen Airport. (B,L,D)

Saturday, July 20: Fly home
Check out of the hotel this morning and walk the short distance (five minutes) to Aberdeen International Airport (ABZ). (B)
Accommodations

Brae, Shetland: Four nights at the Busta House Hotel
The oldest part of the house was built in 1588, and it was extended in the 17th and 18th centuries. All of the bedrooms are named after islands around mainland Shetland and are individually decorated to give each a unique character. The cuisine features lots of local produce.

Aberdeen: One night at the Holiday Inn Express Aberdeen Airport

ACTIVE: Must be able to walk three to seven miles per day on mostly uneven terrain, and up and down inclines and steps.

What to Expect
This is a good introduction to hiking in Scotland for people with basic fitness, combining hiking and visits to geological and archaeological sites. Most hiking will be on paths, tracks, or quiet roads, although the surfaces can be wet and rough. There will be some steep sections along the way, but no climbs greater than 1,200 feet, even in total. Daily walking distances will not exceed seven miles, with varying amounts of ascent, and we do not expect to hike for longer than four hours at a time. The actual itinerary is subject to variables such as the abilities and interests of the group and the weather conditions. The local guides know the area very well, and an easier alternative hike is possible on most days. All participants will be required to follow safety/sanitization protocols set forth by Sponsors/Operator, local staff, and host country laws. Any participant showing signs of illness will be asked to wear a mask while in close proximity to others. If the tour manager decides that a participant cannot participate in a hike or visit a site safely or in a timely manner, their judgment will be final. Where possible, an alternate activity may be suggested; additional costs may apply. If you have any questions about your ability to participate, we suggest that you visit your personal physician with this brochure in hand and discuss whether or not this program is appropriate for you. Lunches will be packed and eaten (mostly outside) at appropriate points during excursions/hikes. Hotels have been chosen for their excellent locations and generous comfort. Average daytime temperatures at the time of our visit will range from the mid-50s to mid-60s F, with a fair chance of some precipitation and an average breeze of 14 mph. Complete pre-departure details will be sent to participants.
