Here's your news for July from on and off campus.

Campus news

Upcoming events

- Upcoming events: Creating Materials to Fight a Broken System.
  - Breakfast Club—9:00 a.m. Central.
  - Alkhanshali on Wednesday, September 27. Grab your copy (and a fresh cup!) and sign up for these engaging events.
- Other ways to connect: Engage in thought-provoking discussions and join a live Q&A with Eggers and Mokhtar Alkhanshali as he navigates the challenges of reviving Yemeni coffee amidst the ongoing conflict.

Strategic Planning Update from Alison Byerly

- Strategic Planning Update from Alison Byerly includes information on the college's Strategic Plan. If you've got updates of your own, please visit the Strategic Plan Coordinating Committee page to share your input.
- Alumni Business Fellowship Program: Learn more and register now! The program provides funding to support up to two years of study or executive M.B.A. programs for mid-career alumni.
- Alumni Business Fellowship Program: Applications are due by August 14 for Carleton's Lofgren Alumni Business Fellowship Program, which helps alumni in established business careers broaden their education.

Academic Civic Engagement class

- The class, taught this spring by a history faculty member, explores the relationship between public history and the land we're on. A few know that better than the students of History Beyond the Walls.
- The land we're on has a history, and the stories it tells shape historical understanding.
- Engage with a diverse range of faculty members and others in your field of interest in the Academic Civic Engagement class.

Dean's Academic Civic Engagement class

- The class, taught this spring by a history faculty member, explores the relationship between public history and the land we're on. A few know that better than the students of History Beyond the Walls.
- The land we're on has a history, and the stories it tells shape historical understanding.
- Engage with a diverse range of faculty members and others in your field of interest in the Dean's Academic Civic Engagement class.

Engagement class

- The class, taught this spring by a history faculty member, explores the relationship between public history and the land we're on. A few know that better than the students of History Beyond the Walls.
- The land we're on has a history, and the stories it tells shape historical understanding.
- Engage with a diverse range of faculty members and others in your field of interest in the Engagement class.

Other ways to connect

- EXPLORE CARLETON'S ALUMNI NETWORK: Discover your connections with fellow Carleton alums through our Alumni Network. Visit our alumni program page and check out our upcoming events.
- STRATEGIC PLANNING UPDATE FROM ALISON BYERLY: Read on for more details about all these events and more, including an update on the college's Strategic Plan. If you've got updates of your own, please visit the Strategic Plan Coordinating Committee page to share your input.
- CAMPUS NEWS: Here's your news for July from on and off campus. Read on for more details about all these events and more, including an update on the college's Strategic Plan. If you've got updates of your own, please visit the Strategic Plan Coordinating Committee page to share your input.
- JULY'S NEWS: It was wonderful to see so many alumni back on campus for Reunion in June! We are looking forward to gathering alumni input on the draft strategic plan when it becomes available for review at the start of the academic year. We plan to ask alumni volunteers who will be on campus in August to offer feedback on the plan. The strategic plan draft will be revised, finalized and submitted to the Board of Trustees for approval in late October. We are looking forward to gathering alumni input on the draft strategic plan when it becomes available for review at the start of the academic year. We plan to ask alumni volunteers who will be on campus in August to offer feedback on the plan. The strategic plan draft will be revised, finalized and submitted to the Board of Trustees for approval in late October.