Here's your news for February from on and off campus.

Upcoming events

George Guenthner '14 has recently returned to his alma mater after working as a collections horticulturist at the New York Botanic Garden. He will also share his journey into a career that's rarely explored in school and what it's like to work as a collections horticulturist.

Growing in the Glasshouse: Orchids and collections
9:00 a.m. CST
Virtual: Thursday, Feb. 8

Holyoke College, discusses national science funding, the distinction between basic and applied science, and the need for more interdisciplinary efforts.

Brennan, a professor of biology at Mount Holyoke College, discusses how scientists study may seem to lack direct relevance to everyday life, but in fact, their work has profound implications for the world around us. He will talk about the importance of engaging students in conversations about ways that scientists can help solve social problems.

Carleton Connects: Anita Chikkatur and solving social problems
11:00 a.m. CST
Virtual: Thursday, Feb. 8

Anita Chikkatur, a professor of electrical and computer engineering at Carleton College, will be discussing her research and the impact it has on society.

Other ways to connect

Learn more and register your team by Sunday, February 4

Sign up to receive our future emails.

TrueRemove®