

Here's your news for July from on and off campus.

This summer at Carleton is one for the ages! All ages, that is — from the seniors who graduated in June to the seniors (and the youngsters, and everyone in between) who attended Reunion the following week. Accolades have been pouring in for nearly a century's worth of Carls as well. Varsity athletes received 118 Academic All-Conference awards, and players and coaches from CUT, Syzygy, CHOP, and Eclipse were chosen for multiple 2025 awards and All-American teams by Ultiworld; among alumni authors, John Bardes '08 won an award for his book on the history of Louisiana, Claire Kelloway '16 won a 2025 James Beard Journalism Award, and a stirring memoir from World War II by Robert Matteson '37 has been published. On campus, the 2024 issues of the Voice earned a national award (and there's a new issue out too!). No matter how young or old you are (or feel), we hope you'll stay in touch and keep reading for more news from campus and beyond.

News from campus

Commencement 2025

528 students in the Class of 2025 graduated in a Commencement ceremony that featured remarks by President Alison Byerly, College Chaplain Schuyler Vogel '07, Julia Dunn '25, Annanya Sinha '25, and Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Isabel Wilkerson. 14 Carls receive Fulbright Awards for 2025

Thirteen students from the Class of 2025 and one Carleton alum from the Class of 2024 received Fulbright Awards this year from the Fulbright U.S. Student Program. This program gives college students and recent graduates the opportunity to conduct research, pursue graduate study, or teach English in a host country of their choice, facilitating cross-cultural respect and dialogue. Read more about the Fulbright Award recipients.

Reunion 2025

Over 2,000 alumni, family, and friends came to campus last month for a full weekend of activities and a chance to reconnect with each other, revisit old haunts, and make new memories. Hundreds of photos from the weekend are available, as is the Reunion video recap. (More videos are on the way.)

SLAI welcomes students to campus

The Summer Liberal Arts Institute (SLAI) is excited to host 207 high school students on campus this month for an immersive and rigorous academic and liberal arts exploration led by 21 professors. Visit the SLAI program page to learn more.

Alumni Business Fellowship Program

Applications are due by September 15 for Carleton's Lofgren Alumni Business Fellowship Program, which helps alumni in established business careers broaden their professional path by pursuing educational opportunities. Typically used for full-time study or executive M.B.A. programs for mid-career Carls, the fellowships cover all or a portion of tuition fees and related costs for up to two years of study. Upcoming events

Virtual: Thursday, July 10
12 p.m. CDT
An Enriching Path from Carleton Geo to Beavers in the Arctic

Ken Tape '99 has been studying climate change and its effects on the Arctic environment since he graduated from Carleton as a geology major. He is drawn to the interactions between different parts of the Arctic ecosystem, how climate change is cascading through this system, and how these changes are viewed through the lens of wildlife. Ken's presentation offers a braided visual and scientific portrait of a changing Arctic landscape and its inhabitants.

Ways to connect

Expand your reading horizons with the Alumni Book Club!

The Carleton alumni book club will embark on a new reading journey from August 1 through October 3, and we would love to have you join us! We will read Birding to Change the World, by Trish O'Kane.

In this uplifting memoir, a professor and activist shares what birds can teach us about life, social change, and protecting the environment.

Carleton's alumni book club is held online through a private discussion forum where members can respond to different questions about the book selection and other "bookish" topics at any time. We spend about two months reading each book to accommodate various reader schedules and preferences. It is easy and free!
