All About Aid

Generous Support Makes It Possible

Once students submit their grants, scholarships, loans, and student employment earnings, they’re left with an effective net cost to attend Carleton.

Every case is different, but here are examples of average net cost for members of the Class of 2023 who qualified for financial aid:

- Family Income: $40,000–$80,000
  - Average Financial Aid: $30,473
  - Average Net Cost: $8,499

- Family Income: $80,000–$120,000
  - Average Financial Aid: $55,438
  - Average Net Cost: $17,172

Carleton is committed to meeting 100 percent of the total demonstrated need of every student.

Support Makes It Possible

'100%'

We meet the full demonstrated need of every student.

We don’t require students to need to take out private loans or find outside scholarships.

We limit first-year students' jobs to 8 hours per week so they have plenty of time for academics and extracurricular activities.

We don’t assume students will need to take out private loans or find outside scholarships.

Hi There!
The Class of 2023 brings a rich array of experiences to campus.

Dominic Calicdan
LAS VEGAS, CHILDREN OF SOUTHERN MESA H.S.
As a hospital volunteer and founder of his school’s first Red Cross Club and blood drive, Dominic won a medal of honor for spending more time on community service than anyone else at his school. He is president of the National Honor Society, and he is a QuestBridge Scholar and a National Hispanic honoree.

Sophia Maag
NORMAN, OKLA.:
NORMAN H.S.
Sophia is a kitchen connoisseur. She makes tasty, healthy food for family and friends and develops recipes for her Food First blog. She also was a scholar in a medical journal.

Lindsey Youngblood
KLASTER, ALA.:
THOMPSON H.S.
A talented trumpeter player Lindsey was first chair in wind ensemble and concert band and helped conduct her school’s marching band her senior year. She served as vice president of the French national honor society and helped run her church’s summer camp. In her spare time, Lindsey is a conscious eater who hopes to one day be as awesome as Hermione Granger.

Paul Fairchild
JACKSON, ALA.:
MONTPELIER H.S.
An academic superstar, Paul also competed regularly in academic tournaments and still found time to hold down a part-time job power-washing houses.

Erin Timmins
CHICAGO, ILL.:
CHICAGO HILL H.S.
En garde! Fencing has taught Erin to be quick on her feet—both literally and figuratively. Knowing when to retreat and when to press on came in handy when she was negotiating with others as part of her town’s youth council and her school’s Model U.N. team.

Abdullah Siddiqui
LAS VEGA, PAKISTAN:
LAHORE Grammar SCHOOL FOR BOYS (LITTLE TOWN)
As a Discovery Corps intern at the Pacific Sciences Center in Seattle, Hermela explained exhibits to guests and helped them interact with wildlife in the butterfly house and tide pool. During the school year, she worked as a student conservation associate and competed on her school’s wrestling team. She also interned at Microsoft and Amazon.

Hermela Shiferaw
SHORTLAND, VANU.:
GARFIELD H.S.
YORK, MICH.:
MICHIGAN CENTRAL H.S.
For his summer job, Aaron delighted audiences across New England as a juggler, acrobat, trampoline artist, hoop diver, and Chinese pole performer with the Circus Smirkus Big Top Tour. He composed music to accompany his acts, as well as for his high school orchestra and the Montclair String Quartet.

Utsha Rai
ALAMEDA, CALIF.:
ALAMEDA SCIENCE HIGH SCHOOL INSTITUTE
Utsha is a visual storyteller. She has illustrated children’s books on healthy eating, experimented with photography, and served as a graphic designer for her high school yearbook.

Lindsey Youngblood
